Description

Suppose user's answer is not correct. If the current question does not have detailed QNAs and answer, the next question to ask should be the same question in standard style. This is because we will guarantee that the standard style question will have detailedQNAs and detailedAnswer.

although all standard style questions must have detailed QNAs, since there is no automated check, it is best to not get stuck in a loop. if there is no detailed qna and the current question is of standard style, move on to the next question according to the usual style selection algo.

PS: For now, user's answer is correct only if it is an exact match. We will relax this later.
