Description
When user clicks on thumbs down, pop up a modal that can be dismissed. The modal should contain the following options that user can just click <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Did not understand the question</li><li>2. Did not understand solution</li><li>3. Answer is wrong</li><li>4. Clues gave answer too fast</li><li>5. Easier than expected</li><li>6. Harder than expected</li><li>7. Question repeated</li><li>8. Other</li></ol> When user chooses 'Other', provide a text box that user can optionally use to write more about the issue. User can also just dismiss it. The number should be added to a new field user-comment-type in 'styled questions' kind. The text should be added to a new field user-comments. User comments should be appended with #$$ as delimiter in both fields. When the modal shows up, there is a good chance that the user would want to look at the question, clues, answer etc before answering. So, add a 'View question' button below the choices. On clicking it, show the question, cq, ds, answer etc.
